

Cathie “Chilly” Chilcote, R.N.
Aesthetic Injection Specialist

Cathie “Chilly” Chilcote, RN, joined the Larrabee Center Aesthetics Team in 2008.

She was born, raised, and educated in London, Ontario, Canada, where she received her degree in nursing at Fanshawe College.

Following graduation, she immigrated to the United States. Chilly worked at Morton Plant Hospital in Clearwater, Florida, as an acute care nurse in both critical and coronary care.

With an interest in Medical and Surgical technology and an inherent ability to teach, she moved to Seattle to begin a 20-plus year career as an educator and trainer with multiple medical companies. These firms included Spacelabs, International Biomedics and, eventually, Allergan Medical.

At Allergan she cultivated her passion for aesthetic medicine and introduced, educated, and trained physicians, surgeons, and nurses nationwide. Included in the spectrum of products and their implementation was the first dermal filler, Collagen, Juvederm and Botox Cosmetic. Upon finishing a rewarding tenure with Allergan Medical, her natural course was to return to the clinical setting and apply her knowledge and skill on an individual patient basis.

Chilly is a skilled nurse injector and is committed to optimum patient assessment and treatment. Her sense of humor – a notable trait – is readily noted when she shares with a patient, “I can’t make you look twenty years younger, but I can make you look a lot better than your girlfriends!”
